has been released to the press. As the statements it contains concerning Mr. Hoover have absolutely no foundation they can only be uttered for the purpose of gaining votes by deliberate lies. I thought you should know that your statements are entirely false in every particular and for that reason I am taking the trouble to give you the truth in order that you may be informed before you deliberately enter upon a campaign of libel and slander. Mr.

The History

On the second of March in 1843, eighty-five years ago, William Sloane opened the door of a small store on Broadway, New York, just across from the City Hall. Within it was the choicest stock of floor-coverings that could be had. Endowing it was the spirit of this business pioneer, whose simple code was unswerving fairness. From Coast to Coast the name became known as a symbol of all that is finest in the great world of business. Today, eighty-five years later, the fundamentals on which William Sloane built his company remain; the same sound value, the same helpful interest, the same unalterable fairness in every transaction. A unique combination of an ideal that never grew dim and modern art - of old art and new art-of wise and well-seasoned musical craftsmanship with the freedom and exuberation of youth as it sails the vast seas of unexplored thought to discover and conquer unknown worlds.

The Hardman is the instrument of the artists—the cultured of those who have arrived.

In 1842 Hugh Hardman set to work to build a piano that should have perfect tone.

To have pure, full tone, and hold it, the instrument must be made very durable.

And so he worked for years on tone and durability.

After 86 years tone and durability are still the Hardman ideal-and the Hardman fame. Artists depend upon it-and it never disappoints them.

In the words of Caruso-"The Hardman remains in tune equally through its entire compass, and like a good friend, can always be depended upon."

A natural result was that for 15 years-and so long as merit alone governed the selection—the Hardman was the official piano of the Metropolitan Opera House. It was logical that it should become—as it did—the favorite piano of Gigli, Scotti, Tetrazzini, Papi, Lauri-Volpi, Giuseppe Danise, and practically all the celebrated artists of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Tetrazzini said the Hardman tone was "superlatively fine"-that the Hardman was a "necessity" in her concert work-as well as in her home. The Hardman was Caruso's "favorite" in his New York apartment and his home in Italy. John McCormack said he "should never care to have a better piano than the Hardman." Cleofonte Campanini's pleasure in the Hardman poured forth in these words:

"Its clear upper notes have the sweetness and purity of flute-tones, its middle register is like a mass of violins, while its unmuffled bass has a 'cello-like sonority. Yours is the first instrument in which I have found these tone qualities all combined."

Hardman family descendants make the Hardman, and family pride maintains the Hardman ideal.

The builders of the Hardman are proud of their heritage—they have never sold out.

The Hardman is still built up to an ideal and not down to a price.

James Taber Fitzgerald writes from New York of the Hardman institution:

"Take upper Fifth Avenue out of New York and New York would miss it very much-and so would the world of travelers who, with the cultured New Yorkers themselves, feel a certain sense of pride in that major and fitting relationship to the City of New York, just so does the Hardman Piano Company and its beautiful Hardman building bear its fixed and fitting relationship to this much beloved and fascinating thoroughfare.

"The representative people of New York and New England know that the Hardman family, with their present-day descendants and relatives, have been writing

"It is indelibly fixed in the minds of all who know these people here that they are master pianoforte crafts-

"Their big-heartedness, their helpfulness to students of music, their great contribution to art, and their vision have characterized their progressive steps through all

The Hardman is the first piano to utilize the new art.

We also show here four out of a large number of period models.

We are privileged to publish the photograph of our own beloved Carrie Jacobs Bond selecting the Hardman for her Grossmont home.

Among leading Los Angeles artists Modest Aultschuler, Abby De Avirett, Carrie Jacobs Bond, Charles Wakefield Cadman, Marjorie Dodge, Will Garroway, Hugo Kirchhofer, Calmon Luboviski, Claire Mellonino, Sylvain Noack, John Smallman, Henry Svedrofsky immediately adopted the Hardman.

The people of Los Angeles may well be proud to adopt it. It is wholly worthy of their favor.

Fitzgerald's also presents the Hardman-Welte-Mignon reproducing piano. At a touch you may hear your favorite artist play in all the vital beauty of his art.

The classic Welte-Mignon library of 200 artists and 2,000 selections—a marvelous musical resource—exists

"And I notice that just as Fifth Avenue bears its fixed into the history of this country—for nearly one hundred years—a story of fine musical craftsmanship.

We present here four of six new-art models each by Fitzgerald's is proud to present the Hardman.

When you can't tell whether it's up or level · ·

SAILING through the darkness of the night silently and swiftly in a Flying Cloud of 1929, along the tunnel of light from gleaming lamps, the road races toward you hour after hour.

You know that between you and your destination are grades both up and down. But you'll find it hard to tell when the road swings upward.

For it is a part of a Flying Cloud's effortless flight that it sails up the grades as though they were a level stretch. And in the dark, when the pitch is steep, unless you watch closely, it's mighty hard to tell whether you're still traveling on the level—or sweeping up a long incline.

There's a 1929 Reo Flying Cloud near you. Ask your dealer for a demonstration. Go for a long drive over rolling roads and feel for yourself the eerie sensation of climbing, climbing while your eager "Cloud" sails up as though the road were level.

Company officials yesterday stated that the only reason they can advance for the rise is the fact that Mascot owns 160 acres adjacent to holdings of the Union Oil Company, Western Pacific No. 1 well, which is said to be progressing satisfactorily. The property is close to the Republic acreage, where it is drilling two wells that will probably prove the entire field, according to geologists. Companies drilling in this territory include C.C.M.O., Republic Petroleum, and Union Oil Company of California.

Production Increase of 2.3 Per Cent Over 1927 Forecast by Expert

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (/P)-The world's oil production in 1928 will show an increase of only 29,825,000 barrels, or about 23 per cent over 1927, Valentin R. Garfias said today, in making public his annual survey of world petroleum production.

survey of world petroleum production.

Garfias, who is manager of Henry L. Doherty & Co.'s foreign oil department, estimated the 1928 production at 1,279,220,000 barrels, a daily average of about 3,500,000 barrels, with the American continent fields bringing in 35 per cent. This country's production he put at 860,000,000 barrels, 69.6 per cent of the world's output. This was very nearly the same as in 1927.

this countrys parts and control tempts at conservation of production.

Other important developments, he said, were the increased yield in Yenesuela, Russia and Colombia, and the decline in Mexican production. This year Venesuela had displaced Russia as the second largest producer, and in Garfias's opinion, is likely to hold this position for years to come. If the present trend continues, he said, Persia will outrank Mexico in 1929.

Present conditions, he said, show that the industry, profiting by past experiences and costly mistakes, now appears to be on the road to sound economic stability.

BANK NOTES, COINS

Financing Your Home

The financing of your home is a matter that merits very careful consideration.

Especially important is the type of first-lien ban to be employed, no matter whether you are preparing to build a home or whether you are going to buy or refinance a completed residence.

For many years the short-term or, three-year loan has been the type most commonly recommended to and accepted by home builders and buyers. That is the form of loan the average lender prefers to make.

A large percentage of these shortterm loans are held by institutions and individuals who are likely to need their money for other purposes when their realty loans come due. It then becomes necessary for the bor-rowers to negotiate new loans unless they happen to have enough cash on hand to meet their obligations.

As a matter of fact, the average home owner is not in a position to pay off his loan at the end of three years, or even to make any substantial re-duction; consequently the three-year loan is not practicable for his pur-

If the holder of his loan does not wish to renew, he faces the necessity of applying for d new loan elsewhere, paying the costs incidental thereto, and, perhaps, a higher rate of interest also, if the money market happens to be tight at that time.

Then, too, if he should want to sell his property subject to the short-term loan, the buyer—if alive to the situation—will realize the necessity for an early renewal, and the the necessity for an early renewal, and the attendant uncertainties; and this alone may prove a detriment to the sale.

We believe, therefore, that the most de-sirable form of loan for the average person is the fifteen-year amortized loan in the form executed by the Mortgage Guarantee Company.

Under this form of loan, arrangement Under this form of loan, arrangement may be made whereby it will not be necessary for the borrower to make any payments whatever against the principal during the first three years; then at the expiration of the third year he may either pay off the loan without bonus, or he may let it run for twelve more years by simply paying 3% of the principal each six months plus interest at the rate of 6% on the unpaid balance.

This form of loan not only obviates the

This form of loan not only obviates the necessity for periodical renewals, but also provides a very easy method of saving money. In many instances the money paid semi-annually against the mortgage would too, the interest rate is lower than that of the usual short-term loan; and this, over a period of years, means another substantial period of years, means another substantial saving.

In addition to the other important features of this special fifteen-year loan, the borrower has the advantage of dealing with an institution which is engaged exclusively in the business of loaning money on real estate, with ample funds for that purpose always on hand; an institution with resources of more than $70,000,000, whose business—one of the largest of its kind in the United States—has been built solely on the basis of constructive service.

Short-term loans are, of course, svailable through this Company for those who especially prefer them, as well as both long and short-term loans on courts, flats, apartments and business properties, in small or large amounts, on attractive terms.

An Open Letter to Customers OF THE PAN AMERICAN BANK

LEO. M. MEEKER, President

BUSINESS is over 80% men and women - the rest is merchandise, equipment, money and materials.

Upon assuming control of the Pan American Bank, I found over 16,000 customers on its books.

I feel that over 80% of our business is with you-each of you as a customer -and not with your money.

One of the things that decided me in accepting the invitation extended to my associates and myself to take over the control of the Pan American Bank was the character of its accountsthe kind of people who are its cus-

Friendship is a big word in business today-more so than in many years.

The Pan American is a friendly bank. I hope that as customers you will come in and get personally acquainted with each of us who are in charge here.

Bankers of Wide Experience

I want you to meet Mr. C. L. Hill, our Vice-President, who has been associated with me in the management of such banks as the First National Bank of Garden Grove, the First National Bank of El Monte, the Long Beach National Bank, the First National Bank of Riverside and the First National Bank of Beverly Hills. You will find Mr. Hill a good business man.

Mr. P. W. Hall, Vice-President, was for eleven years an official of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank and the Chase National Bank

Mr. S. A. Lanning, Cashier of the Pan American Bank, was for years an executive of the Federal Reserve Bank of Los Angeles, and Mr. J. M. McEvers and Mr. H. S. Pierce, Ass't. Cashiers, are bankers of wide experience. All are the type of men who admirably fit the policy under which the Pan American operates.

As a customer of this bank, which as you know is not yet two years old, you are interested in its condition—

Capital is $1,000,000 Surplus • $250,000 Deposits • $5,000,000 Assets over $5,000,000

We have a strong and energetic bank—adequately capitalized for our present needs, and a policy that can be clearly understood by every customer. That policy is absolute fairness—fairness to each client and to the bank.

A Policy Business Men Like

As the active head of a number of other banks in Southern California during the past ten years, among them the Long Beach National Bank which grew from a $3,000,000 to a $8,000,000 institution in four years, I have found that once a business man becomes convinced that a bank's decisions affecting his business are based solely on a policy of impartial but definite fairness, his confidence in that bank increases, and the bank and the business man draw closer together in mutual profit and friendliness.

Individuals may act or base decisions quite properly on motives of generosity, charity or personal likes and dislikes in the conduct of their private affairs—but the whole obligation of business is to be fair.

And particularly is this true in the banking

I stress this point so strongly because I want our customers at the Pan American Bank to understand when they come to us to transact their business, the clear-cut policy that guides

And I have never found anything in my many years of banking experience that will promote more genuine friend-ship between a bank and its customers than this policy of fairness, when it is clearly understood and lived up to.

I honestly believe I'm a cinch for a 10,000-barrel well on my first two locations, and I sincerely advise your most serious consideration of my offering while there is yet time for you to participate.

Even $100 now has tremendous earning possibilities.

My No. 1 well is drilling below 1200 feet today, and it is a safe bet that my crack drilling crews will have her below 3000 feet in 10 days from today.

Mail your check or run in, but you will have to hurry now.

Police Action Waits Result of Chemist's Tests

Bootlegger Suspects Sought on Poison Theory

An autopsy performed by County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner yesterday failed to reveal the cause of the death of Mrs. Prances Hitchcock, 26 years of age, believed to have been a victim of poison bootleg liquor, according to Chief Deputy Coroner MacDonald. Nothing definite can be learned, MacDonald said, until a chemical analysis of the contents of the stomach is made, which will not be completed for about three days.

What was at first believed by police to have been another poisoning from bootleg liquor was found to be a case of fever when the comatose condition of Miss Virginia Manhart, 19 years of age, of 1204 Crownhill avenue, was diagnosed by General Hospital physicians late yesterday.

Police learned that the girl has gone to the home of Mrs. Dora Russell at 249 South Bixel street, about 3 p.m. Tuesday, saying that she was very ill and that her mother was not at home. That evening she grew worse, Mrs. Russell said, and at 11 p.m. Dr. C. W. Packerd of 602 West Forty-second street was called in, who said he believed that she was afflicted with influenza.

At 6 am. yesterday she became unconscious and was removed by police to the Receiving Hospital.

DEMOCRATIC CONTRADICTIONS
In a speech chiefly remarkable for its own evasiveness and contradictory character, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, nominee for Vice-President on the Democratic ticket, entertained several thousand applauding Democrats in Philharmonic Auditorium Tuesday night by charging Herbert Hoover with isconsistencies and lack of candor concerning Colorado River development. lerade River devel

Colorado River development.

Robinson sought to deride the announcement by Hoover in Los Angeles several weeks ago that the Republican Presidential nominee favors construction of the highest dam and largest reservoir at Boulder Canyon which engineers will recommend. In drawing his own unfavorable conclusions from this remark—which has received the hearty approval of the sponsors of the Swing-Johnson bill—Senator Robinson chose to ignore the plain statement by Gov. Smith in his acceptance speech that he considers navigation to be the sole interest of the Federal government in the Colorado.

Colorado.

The Arkansas Senator indulged in various generalities concerning the river problem. He precipitated a veritable avalanche of applause by conveying in vague terms an intimation that the election of Smith would be followed by "men working on a dam" in the river area. As to where the dam would be located, the purposes to which it would be dedicated or the agencies that would operate it, the speaker was salent.

His attanent to utilize the Denver

His attempt to utilize the Denver speech of Gov. Smith as a basis for his Colorado remarks obviously limited Robinson to a relatively small field of discussion, as the Denver utterance of Smith was in itself a direct contradiction of the Democratic nominee's prior commitment.

And at the very height of his tirade against Hoover's asserted failure to make himself clear on the subject of Colorado River legislation, Senator Robinson de-River legislation, Senator Robinson de-livered himself of the following highly indefinite and ambiguous announce-

"The development of the Colorado River as one of our great national resources addresses itself to the sympathetic consideration of all progressive citizens. . . . It is expected that the board of engineers constituted during the last session of Congress and directed to report December 1, 1928, will submit its findings early during the next session of Congress.

"Should it recommend procedure designed and calculated to safeguard the reasonable demands of the States, and of the general public, with particular regard for public control of rates and distribution, no reason presents itself in my mind for the prolongation of the controversy."

The foremost foes of Colorado River levelopment could subscribe to the fore-tioning without sacrifice of a single ob-

The reaction of Democratic sympa-thizers after the applause had subsided and the nominee had continued on his way may, perhaps, be found in the ob-servation of the Smith ticket's chief newspaper support in Southern Califor-nia, the Los Angeles Record, in its issue yesterday having this lugubrious com-ment to make:

"Notwithstanding his resounding whacks at the Republican candidate's antipublic ownership position, he Tailed to clarify either his own position or that of his party. . . . The vital question of who is to distribute the hydroelectric energy after it has been generated by the government at Boulder Dam was left untouched. . . Those farmers begin driving in at 8 p.m.—men of all nationalities, speaking all tongues—and women, too, in many cases, who make one think of that great American novel, "80 Big." There are some 350 "regulars," who take the same places night after night, and a sort of traffic cop directs the rest. Then come the buyers. This market is wholesale only, and

THE HATLESS

Some think it is just a fad in Holly-wood. An observer made the remark re-cently that you can tell the moment you cross the border into the movie capital the men are hatless.

However, the custom is not indigenous to the stars. A few dignified heads of big concerns are pursuing business in the metropolitan district of Los Angeles without hats.

College boys are accused of starting the innovation. Higher institutions of learning and football are guilty of much; but the custom of going minus headgear is not confined to the campus. If it began there, graduates have carried the idea out into the world.

Nor did the boys do it in the interests of the bigger and better hair movement. However, their dads have pounced down upon it as the salvation of their wigs. Many a man with no hirsute thatching to speak of (yet which his friends men-tion frequently) goes about burning his bald pate in the ultraviolets as he indulges in the hot hope that two hairs may grow where none grew before.

Nor are the hatless characteristic of Los Angeles alone. New York has been doing it for some time. A conductor of that city was officially interviewed and reported that twenty-five unhatted males were discovered in every crowded subway car. A policeman also yielded the information that many motorists drive without rims or visors.

Nor is the idea merely American. Tur-key recently legislated male millinery off the heads of her befezzed millions. The Fascists of Italy are trying to put the caps back on the college boys by special

Every day many tons of good food are thrown away in the market. For illustration, Los Angeles eats more bananas than any other city, though it ranks behind New Orleans as an ex-port city. But bananas which are it ranks behind New Orleans as an export city. But bananas which are ripe when they reach the big banana brokers are ruthlessly cut away from the stalkstothe great joy of about 200 poor women who daily go through the market, picking out of the huge trash cans all the good food they can carry home. which to carry away their gleanings, and when one sees how much really good food must be thrown away he can hardly see why anyone should go hungry here. We saw fruits dumped which had only begun to "spot," and whole crates of tomatoes still perfectly good, but dead ripe. Most of the "gleaners" are Mexican women, and they lend one more picturesque touch to a picture already exceptionally colorful and diversified.

Our Debt to the Japan

"Fully four-fifths of all the fresh vegetables in this greatest of all vegetables markets are raised by Japa," one market officer told us. "Americans simply won't raise the things that they have to stoop over to raise. But the Japanese are short men, and their backs don't get so tired. If it weren't for them, we wouldn't have the profusion of fresh vegetables all the year round that we have. So many are here that we have a Japanese restaurant in the market."

Ripened While You Wait

Ripened While You Walt

This market has grown to what it is because of enterprising and farsighted commission men. They have developed many new and amazing ideas. One of them, Jerry Klein, invented the lug box, now supplanting the bushel basket everywhere. F. J. Day has patented a process for pumping all the latent heat out of a carload of fruits, pumping in leed air and so greatly reducing the cost of refrigeration. But most marvelous to most of us is the way in which well-equipped houses can, by refrigeration, keep tomatoes, oranges or other fruits green till the market for them gets good, and then, by aid of harmless gas, ripen

Uniform Vehicle Code DEPARTMENT OF COM-MERCE, WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. MERCE, WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.
[To the Editor of The Times:]
An editorial in The Times has come to our attention relative to the uniform vehicle code and model municipal traffic ordinance developed by the national conference on street and highway safety, and we have read this editorial with great interset.

document recently distributed was the Model Municipal Traffic Ordinance, made available in final form in August of this year for the first time following a three-day meeting in July of the committee which prepared it. The uniform vehicle code recommended for adoption by States was completed and distributed two years ago, and it is this that has been adopted wholly or in part by some eleven States thus far.

The new New Jersey traffic law, however, which went into effect September 1, embodies much of the model municipal traffic ordinance as well as important provisions of the uniform vehicle code. It is believed that the New Jersey Legislature has possibly wider authority over traffic control in municipalities than exists in many of the States.

not contain provisions relative to speed, but in the section, "State law provisions that may be repeated or inserted in municipal ordinances." beginning on page 38, the speed restrictions of the uniform vehicle code are repeated. (It is our understanding that California is one of the States in which it is not necessary or desirable to repeat in municipal ordinances such State law provisions.)

The uniform vehicle code does not prescribe any maximum limits, but indicates limits under various conditions beyond which it is prima facie uniawful to drive. It was felt that such limits are desirable to serve as a guide both to enforcement officers and to operators as to what are deemed safe speeds under average conditions. They neither prohibit driving faster when conditions permit nor authorize driving up to that speed der average conditions. They neither prohibit driving faster when conditions permit nor authorize driving up to that speed when it is dangerous to do so.

We feel that this is a little different from the thought that violations of the law are winked at if no harm is done and there is no element of danger. There is no violation if the operator apprehended for exceeding the prima facie limit is able to prove that his speed was safe for the conditions. The burden of the proof is on him, but in practice

How Star Chamber Originated
The term "star chamber proceedings" is in almost daily use, but few persons using the expression really know how it originated. In ancient times the King of England had a special court which consisted of some of his advisers and a number of judges which met at Westminster. It seems to have gotten its name from the fact that the ceiling of the chamber where the court sat was decorated with gilt stars.

The court had jurisdiction over all offenses which the law had not made provision for. Naturally many of the decisions were high-handed and unjust. Charles I abolished the star chamber. Is modern parlance "star chamber" is applied to any high-handed official action.

So Easy to Fight Fat In this right way

It is hard and harmful to fight fat by starvation and over-work. It is easy when you use the modern, scientific way.

Some years ago medical research discovered a great cause of excess fat. It lies in a gland which largely controls nutrition. When that gland is under-active too much food soes to fat.

en test animals. The fat disappeared, new vigor and health appeared. That was the start of a new treatment for obesity, now used by physicians the world over. Marmola prescription tablets are based on the chief factor employed. On a gland factor. The formula appears in every box, the the chief factor employed on the chief factor employed.

Marmola was perfected by a famous medical laboratory, under experts in glass treatments. People have used it for 21 years—millions of boxes of it. The results are now seen in every circle. Slender figures are the rule, and excess fat is rare. If you find that excess fat—anywhere—is a blight to your beauty, animation and charm, end it now. Do what the multi-tudes for 21 years have been doing. They end the cause. Get one box of Marmola, watch the results, and let those results decide. You will be amazed and delighted. Just take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal, then note the differences of the difference of the dif

Supervisors Asked to Deny Inquiry to Echo Suit Over Orangewood Project

Evil of Overdoing Special Complaint of Donovan Leads Assessments Stressed

Extravagant special assessment listrict projects were dealt a hard slow yesterday by County Counsel Mattoon when he addressed a letter Mattoon when he addressed a letter to one of the county supervisors urging denial of a $285,457 improvement in the vicinity of Orangewood Boulevard. The letter stressed the evil of overdoing special assessment proceedings and the undue burdening of property.

The petition had been approved by the Board of Supervisors, but on investigation by the county counsel it was learned that while the improvement of the streets would cost $285,457, the total assessed valuation of the lands and improvements in the district was only $97,430, or approximately one-third of the cost of the proposed improvement.

the property and one which is unjustified."

"It is just this kind of improvement project which has practically paralyzed some other communities in this State," the letter stated, and caused a righteous indignation against the overdoing of special assessment improvements, from which condition this county in the past has been singularly free because of its diligent effort to restrict such proceedings to meritorious projects required by urgent public necessity."

"The result of this proceeding would be that the property would be overloaded beyond its ability to pay," the letter stated. "There would be no sale for the bonds because of the lack of security based on valuation in the district, and the lands would be so heavily encumbered it would be impossible for owners to obtain any loans or finance any improvement of their property."

Van Dine's absence from the city where he began his career in the literary field hasn't changed him much, although there are a few gray hairs in his head. He still wears his familiar Vandyke beard, and carries a cane.

He is immensely glad to get back to Los Angeles for it is his first vacation in many months and will afford him a long-sought opportunity to visit oid acquaintances here. He is a guest at the Ambassador and his stay is indefinite, although he plans on remaining several weeks to act as technical supervisor on the picture version of his story. and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Nise Baby" seems to have had nothing else since it began to prattle in the films.

The upshot is that the cast and director are being changed, after $52,000 has been spent. The reason given is that it was intended at first to make the picture as a straight comedy, after which it was decided to turn it into a farce. Sally Ellers has been relieved of the lead, with nobody substituted so far. Robart Heniey has given way as director to Sam Wood. Milit Gross, author of the story, has gone east.

there are now in the United States more than 300 compared with about 100 in 1919, sends higher-grade men into universities than any of the other secondary institutions.

Among 1231 students in the "upper division" of Stanford University those from junior colleges rank distinctly higher than those from high school and considerably higher than those from high school and considerably higher than those from standard colleges, normal schools or foreign colleges on the Thorndike intelligence test. The mean scores are: Junior-college students $1.8, normal-school students 79.8, high-school students 72.3 and foreign-college students 79.8, high-school students 72.3 and foreign-college students 79.8, high-school students 72.3 and foreign-college students 79.8, high-school students 60 high-score students and the lowest of low-score. Students entering the university after completing a junior-college course elsewhere are superior in ability to other groups when measured by standard intelligency test scores, or when measured by their previous academic records; they have made slightly lower average records during their first year of adjustment to university conditions; but at the conclusion of their courses they have carried off much greater than their share of graduation honors. Judged by results to date, the junior college seems to be successfully performing at least one of its important functions—that of preparation of students for advanced work in the university.—

PURSES HIS SPECIALTY Palt's specialty, Vernand stated, was the pilitering of women's purses left in rear bedrooms, while the owners attended bridge parties and other sociable entertainments in the front part of homes. He admitted, other sociable entertainments in the front part of homes. He admitted, the captain said, that he garnered about $1000 in cash in this way. Capture of the suspect, who was promptly called "Squib" by the police, was made early yesterday morning after H. L. Miele notified police that a burglar was attempting to break into his home at 5223 South Cimarron street. When Officers Moore and Cole and Detective Lieutenant Grant responded, they were given a description of the suspect by R. L. Wells of the same address and a short time later picked up Falt at Fifty-second picked up Fait at Fifty-secon street and Second avenue.

STEEL PICK CARRIED When searched Falt was found to be carrying a long steel pick in an inside coat pocket and a watch later identified by A. Levy as having been taken in a recent burglary at his home at 5752 Tenth avenue.

Falt was taken to the University Police Station, where he is said to have made a confession of his nocturnal activities to Capt. Vernand. Yesterday afternoon he asserted his willingness to aid the police in solving the numerous party burgiaries which have been under constant investigation by Capt. Vernand's men for the last four months.
